Service Opportunities for Medical Librarians

Created by Julie Whelan, Dorothy Barr, and Alison Clapp, 2006

Reviewed by Cara Marcus, December 2014

The scope of this page includes international, national, and local programs: volunteer, grant, and donation options. The focus of this listing is on opportunities to use our expertise as medical librarians to improve healthcare for the disadvantaged.

Book Aid International - Book donation service based in London and sending books to Africa. Will accept only brand new, mint-condition reference books. Also looks for volunteers to help with donations and programs.

Charity Village - Canadian clearinghouse of volunteer opportunities includes some library positions all located in Canada.

Global Health Corps - International Service Opportunities for Healthcare professionals (all types) Focus on health promotion.

Librarians without Borders - An initiative of a Canadian Library Science program. The first project involves support for a library in Angola. Volunteer opportunities are based in Canada, but international opportunities may evolve. The Medical Library Association provides a page about the program.

Medical Reserve Corps of Massachusetts - Massachusetts web site of the Medical Reserve Corps. Volunteers serve as a team during times of emergency or need in their own community.